the instrument of redemption, I have no qualms about using him. I do have my apologies to Chancellor Gladys Styles Johnston who had certainly no idea of this and certainly was not any...was someone that I was able to visit with when this idea came up. But she has contributed not only to the educational needs of outstate Nebraska, but also to the spirit of human rights by the acceptance of all people, by instilling a desire to overcome new challenges, and a desire to open new challenges and horizons for all students. So I think this is an extremely appropriate amendment and I hope you will support it. So that when people say, how does this really benefit outstate Nebraska, this is something you can specifically point to and say, this is how it will open up our horizons for telecommunications. So I encourage your support for the amendment. Thank you.

SPEAKER WITHEM: Senator Brashear, your light is on.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Mr. Speaker, members of the body, Senator Chambers, would you yield, please.

SPEAKER WITHEM: Senator Chambers, will you respond to a question?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, I will.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Senator Chambers, I just wanted to ask you, for the record, with regard to your amendment, were you able to listen to the comments I made on the time which you graciously extended to me in your opening?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I listened very attentively. I was highly impressed and I would agree with them 100 percent.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: All right. So I did correctly characterize the potentiality for benefit to the body and the agenda and efficiency and economy of time?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, you did.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: If this amendment is adopted.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, you did.
